Next View Software Announces Alliance with enVista

Alliance provides customers superior supply chain productivity results based on combined innovation, market leadership, technology and experience

Orange, CA – Next View Software, an innovative provider of on-demand Supply Chain Productivity software solutions, announced today that it has formed an alliance with leading enterprise and supply chain consulting firm, enVista. The partnership will enable customers to leverage the savings, benefits and robust capabilities of on-demand supply chain productivity solutions, along with exceptional supply chain management consulting expertise.

Steve Simmerman, Business Development leader for Next View Software, says, “We are very excited about this alliance. Next View’s industry leading on-demand supply chain productivity solutions together with enVista’s consulting and implementation practices will provide customers with a powerful product and service combination that delivers exceptional value and results.”

Jim Barnes, president of enVista says, “enVista is a market leader in supply chain thought leadership, consulting and implementation services. We seek out the best possible solutions for our clients and we believe that Next View through its SaaS offerings represents the future of innovative, supply chain productivity software solutions.”

Barnes continues, “enVista brings deep experience in delivering innovative supply chain solutions. Next View’s on-demand software solutions strengthens our ability to provide clients with best-in-class labor and warehouse management solutions with a compelling total cost of ownership. This alliance is a win-win for both enVista and Next View clients.”

Next View Software is revolutionizing the way that supply chain practitioners use technology to continually improve their supply chain management and productivity. Next View’s on-demand supply chain productivity solutions deliver first-rate functionality built upon years of experience. Next View’s on-demand, subscription-based software model delivers an excellent total cost of ownership for clients.

Simmerman adds, “Companies require experienced consulting partners and innovative solutions that help them drive continuous improvement across their supply chain, including improved productivity and cost reductions. It’s all about value and measurable results for clients, which enVista will clearly help us deliver.”
